

PARTICIPATE IN RESEARCH. BE AN AGENT OF CHANGE.

Participating in clinical trials in one of the most important ways patients and their loved ones can get involved in speeding a cure for Parkinson's disease.

Clinical trials are a final and crucial step on the path to developing new treatments for Parkinson's patients today. Eighty-five percent of trials face delays and 30% never even get off the ground because of a lack of volunteers.

This low enrollment slows the drug development process, and new treatments take longer to get to pharmacy shelves. No amount of funding or other resources can make up for a lack of clinical trial volunteers.

Fox Trial Finder is an online tool that helps patients, as well as people who do not have PD, get involved in research by matching volunteers to the trials that need them. By matching participants to trials, Fox Trial Finder speeds therapeutic breakthroughs, bringing better treatments to patients faster.

HOW IT WORKS

Find the Trials that Need You

Complete your profile with basic information, such as location and medical history. You'll receive a list of trial matches in your area that need someone like you. You'll be notified whenever a new trial begins that could be a good match.

Connect Anonymously with TrialTeams

Every trial includes contact information for the study coordinator so that you can reach out directly. A built-in secure messaging system lets you connect anonymously with trial teams to explore opportunities to participate.

Your Privacy is Always Assured

With state-of-the-art security protocols, your identity remains confidential. Your name, phone number and e-mail address will never be revealed unless you share this information with a trial team member.

Connect with Trials that Haven't Even Begun Yet

No matches? Sometimes that happens. Once you've completed your anonymous profile, save it and let us do the work. Fox Trial Finder will email you whenever a new trial begins that could be a good match for you. New trials start recruiting every month. Remember to update your profile at least once a year, or whenever you participate in a new trial or change your location or medical regimen.

All clinical trials need participants.
Fox Trial Finder knows which trials need you.
