Commitment Range:
$25,000 – $100,000

The “Parkinson’s Buddy Network” was designed by our Foundation to be an always-on source of connection and solidarity for the community. The web-based platform allows those with PD, their loved ones and care partners to develop meaningful relationships and combat isolation. This fully online social network — currently hosting more than 5,500 users (and counting) from across the globe — offers a lively discussion board, access to resources and upcoming events, and the ability to search for “buddies” and send private messages. The Buddy Network also hosts a robust offering of smaller interest groups to connect various categories of individuals, such as caregivers with other caregivers; newly diagnosed with people who have been living with the disease longer; or those interested in key topics like diet and exercise.

Benefits of Support: Through the Parkinson’s Buddy Network “Resources Hub” and in dedicated Group Chat Forums, we distribute your brand’s health and wellness resources and information related to treatment options and research opportunities, while encouraging a dialogue around key topics.

“I’m in the early stages of Parkinson’s. I’m so proud of the hard work and dedication the Foundation puts into finding a cure for this disease. Thank you.”

A diagnosis of Parkinson's disease comes with many questions. Parkinson's IQ + You (PDIQ) provides the community with two of the greatest tools for managing their disease: knowledge and support. PDIQ is a series of free, in-person events designed to empower patients and care partners to manage the disease, learn about the latest research and connect with local resources. Each event — with on average 600 attendees — hosts a Parkinson's Partner Expo, where individuals can access resources on exercise programs, support groups, care options, research opportunities and more. In the second half of 2022, MJFF will host four, in-person PDIQ events, in major markets across the United States: Boston, Chicago, Bay Area, and one yet to be determined.*

Benefits of Support: At every level of sponsorship, you benefit from having in-person presence in the Parkinson's Partner Expo, including opportunities to engage directly with the members of the local Parkinson's community, in addition to acknowledgement within one or multiple on-site events and recognition in far-reaching promotional campaign efforts.

EDUCATING THE COMMUNITY TO LIVE WELL WITH PARKINSON'S

Evergreen and Spotlight Education on Parkinson's Disease

Commitment Range:

Every individual and family impacted by Parkinson's needs trusted sources of information to help them navigate their journey with the disease. By speaking directly to people with PD and their care partners, MJFF is changing the dialogue around symptoms, therapeutic options, lifestyle resources and the value of research participation. To help combat virtual information fatigue, our resources are curated to meet patients and families where they are on that journey so that the information is seen, heard and retained.

MJFF's first-in-class educational content is thoughtfully created and strategically promoted to unique audience segments defined by their relationship to Parkinson's and their readiness to participate in research. Our Parkinson's audience includes people with newly diagnosed, mid-stage and advancing PD. We also consider Parkinson's-adjacent populations such as care partners and people at heightened risk for PD such as those with a family connection or genetic factor. In 2022, we are also reaching out to a general population of aging individuals who may be interested in overall health and wellness as well as in participating in studies to protect brain health.

MJFF's evergreen education is composed of:

- + Third Thursdays Webinar series (averaging 40,000 views each year)
- + "Ask the MD" video and blog series (averaging 200,000 video views each year)
- + "Parkinson's Podcast" (averaging 50,000 listeners each year)

The Foundation also regularly publishes "spotlights" on specific Parkinson's-related topics, establishing a comprehensive user journey that guides community members through education on one topic and empowers them to be savvy healthcare consumers.

In 2022, MJFF will deliver education to particular subgroups within our community focused on (but is not limited to) the following themes: 1) symptom spotlights and the value of research participation; 2) genetics, sleep behaviors and other risk factors for PD; and 3) brain health and healthy aging.

Benefits of Support: Companies whose products, services, corporate mission or social impact priorities align with our community will benefit from leveraging MJFF's promotional efforts to distribute related content and calls to action to our audiences. Additionally, the interactive nature of our platforms allows for feedback regarding our community's interests, challenges and perspectives. Multiple programs and sponsorship levels afford opportunities for visibility for your company and its products, programs or services to our audience. Levels range from an entry point for groups exploring early investments in education to opportunities for MJFF to link to your branded product and program webpages.

PPMI: The Study that Could Change Everything

Brand Exposure

Digital Recognition

Commitment Range:

In-Kind – $100,000+

The Parkinson's Progression Markers Initiative (PPMI) is changing how patients, families, doctors and scientists think about brain disease. The Michael J. Fox Foundation launched PPMI in 2010 to better understand Parkinson's and advance new treatments. Since then, the study has changed how research is done and what scientists know about the brain. It is a cornerstone of our understanding of disease and has heavily influenced clinical trial design.

PPMI follows people — with and without Parkinson's — over time to learn more about how disease starts and changes. That information may lead to insights and tools that can help better diagnose, treat and even prevent brain disease. More than 1,400 participants enrolled in PPMI over its first decade. Many of those people continue in the study. Today, with more therapies in testing, PPMI is expanding.

Recruitment of recently diagnosed volunteers, at-risk individuals and control volunteers has begun again in earnest at nearly 50 sites in 12 countries. Additionally, the study has added an online platform to gather health and wellness data from more than 100,000 people with and without PD. This ambitious recruitment effort is a three-year task of massive scale, but we're up for the challenge.

Benefits of Support: MJFF is actively working with corporate partners through financial, in-kind and promotional partnerships to drive awareness of this critical study and, importantly, to give back to those volunteers who are offering so much of themselves and their time to this important study. Partners join the PPMI Partner Advisory Board, regularly receiving updates and sharing input on the study direction.

Please reach out to corporatepartnerships@michaeljfox.org to explore ways to work together.

Promoting Diversity, Equity and Inclusivity in Parkinson's Research and Care

Brand Exposure

Digital Recognition

Commitment Range:
There is no minimum or maximum commitment.

Historically, most PD research has not been fully representative of all people who live with the disease. As a result, scientists have an incomplete picture of who has the disease and how it affects their ability to access care. To address this imbalance, MJFF has defined four major areas of action: 1) identifying barriers and solutions to research participation; 2) funding inclusive research with greater participant diversity; 3) building a clinician/researcher workforce committed to health equity; and 4) supporting a more holistic understanding of PD. Factors that drive care inequities are complex, but it's essential that organizations come together in a decisive and coordinated fashion to identify and implement strategies that advance treatments for everyone with PD.

MJFF works with a strong group of expert and community stakeholders to identify needs and opportunities for more inclusive outreach. For example, we have focused efforts on translation of key resources, broader representation in participant profiles, and accessible language in study materials.

As we grow our portfolio of initiatives aimed at engaging underrepresented populations in research and increasing access to care, we want to hear from you on your DEI priorities. Please reach out to corporatepartnerships@michaeljfox.org to explore ways to work together.

Benefits of Support: By partnering with MJFF on meaningful, sustained initiatives that generate lasting change, you can reaffirm your company's commitment to DEI and increase your stakeholders' awareness of your actions — those you are already taking and those you intend to take to ensure diversity, equity and inclusivity in Parkinson's research and care.

“This disease does not discriminate, and that’s why representation matters. The Foundation is a community of people coming together and welcoming all — and it’s meant so much to me.”

Workplace giving programs enable employees to make tax-deductible donations to non-profit organizations directly through payroll contributions. Additionally, your company can host organized campaigns or other coordinated giving activities throughout the year to galvanize employees to give to MJFF. The Foundation also participates in the Combined Federal Campaign (CFC), empowering federal employees to support charities of their choice.

Third-party providers, such as Benevity and YourCause, can help you formalize tools to facilitate employee giving. If you would like to feature MJFF as a charity in a corporate giving campaign, we can provide content and resources to make the effort a success.

Benefits of Support: Highlight your company's values and support your local community. By giving individual employees an easy way to champion MJFF's mission, your company can generate awareness and goodwill around your philanthropic efforts.

Corporate matching programs work in tandem with employee giving to amplify the impact employees can make on causes that matter to them. MJFF has been designated as a 501(c)(3), an eligible nonprofit organization to receive matched tax-deductible contributions.

Benefits of Support: In addition to helping companies meet their corporate social responsibility goals, matching programs may incentivize more employees to give and increase overall employee engagement.
