CULTIVATING CORPORATE CULTURES THAT GIVE BACK

Employee Giving and Engagement

Employee Empowerment

Brand Exposure

Workplace giving programs enable employees to make tax-deductible donations to nonprofit organizations directly through payroll contributions. Additionally, your company can host organized campaigns or other coordinated giving activities throughout the year to galvanize employees to give to MJFF. The Foundation also participates in the Combined Federal Campaign (CFC), empowering federal employees to support charities of their choice. Third-party providers, such as Benevity and YourCause, can help you formalize tools to facilitate employee giving. If you would like to feature MJFF as a charity in a corporate giving campaign, we can provide content and resources to make the effort a success.

Benefits of Support: To highlight the shared mission of your company and MJFF in improving the lives of those impacted by Parkinson’s disease, MJFF will proudly co-develop opportunities to deepen employees’ understanding of our partnership and our collective commitment to support the patient community. This includes bespoke opportunities like Parkinson’s Awareness Days, Lunch & Learns, Fireside Chats and Employee Resource Group (ERG) engagements.

Corporate Matching

Employee Empowerment

Brand Exposure

Corporate matching programs work in tandem with employee giving to amplify the impact employees can make on causes that matter to them. MJFF has been designated as a 501(c)(3), an eligible nonprofit organization to receive matched tax-deductible contributions.

Benefits of Support: In addition to helping companies meet their corporate social responsibility goals, matching programs may incentivize more employees to give and increase overall employee engagement.

EDUCATING THE COMMUNITY TO LIVE WELL

Evergreen and Spotlight Education

Commitment Range:

Brand

Consumer

Digital Recognition

Every individual and family impacted by Parkinson's needs trusted sources of information to help them navigate their journey with the disease. By speaking directly to people with PD and their care partners, MJFF is changing the dialogue around symptoms, therapeutic options, lifestyle resources and the value of research participation. To help combat virtual information fatigue, our resources are curated to meet patients and families where they are on that journey so that the information is seen, heard and retained.

MJFF's first-in-class educational content is thoughtfully created and strategically promoted to unique audience segments defined by their relationship to Parkinson's and their readiness to participate in research. Our Parkinson's audience includes people with newly diagnosed, mid-stage and advancing PD. We also consider Parkinson's-adjacent populations such as care partners and people at heightened risk for PD, such as those with a family connection or genetic factor. We regularly reach out to a general population of aging individuals who may be interested in overall health and wellness and in participating in studies to protect brain health.

MJFF's evergreen education is composed of:

- + Third Thursdays Webinar series (averaging 360,000+ views each year)
- + Ask the MD video and blog series (averaging 20,000+ views per video)
- + Parkinson's Podcast (averaging 207,000+ listens each year)
- + Educational Guides (averaging 218,000+ downloads each year)

The Foundation also regularly publishes "spotlights" on specific Parkinson's-related topics, establishing a comprehensive user journey that guides community members through education on one topic and empowers them to be savvy healthcare consumers.

In 2026, MJFF will deliver education to particular subgroups within our community focused on (but not limited to) the following themes: 1) symptom spotlights and the value of research participation; 2) genetics, sleep behaviors and other risk factors for PD; and 3) brain health and healthy aging.

Benefits of Support: Companies whose products, services, corporate mission or social impact priorities align with our community will benefit from leveraging MJFF’s promotional efforts to distribute related content and calls to action to our audiences. Additionally, the interactive nature of our platforms allows for feedback regarding our community’s interests, challenges and perspectives. Multiple programs and sponsorship levels afford opportunities for visibility for your company and its products, programs or services to our audience. Levels range from an entry point for groups exploring early investments in education to opportunities for MJFF to link to your branded product and program webpages.

PDEC is a powerful network of multidisciplinary experts across advocacy, R&D, marketing, communications, and medical affairs — who share in the belief that patient and caregiver education and engagement lead to better health outcomes for the Parkinson’s community.

Revenue generated from the PDEC enables our evergreen educational resources, including webinars and associated blogs, podcasts, AskTheMD content, focused guides, curated information on our website and more. This “gold standard” content is critical to helping our community feel empowered and informed to take their experience with PD into their own hands and address topics of most importance to them.

In December each year, we host an annual PDEC Summit with participating partners to reflect on educational content, performance, and engagement throughout the year and discuss priority areas for the year ahead.

Benefits of Support: Supporting PDEC provides your organization with valuable brand visibility across a range of high-quality educational content reaching the Parkinson’s community and key stakeholders. As a culmination of this partnership, supporters are invited to an exclusive, in-person one-day summit at MJFF headquarters — offering a unique opportunity to explore the Foundation’s patient engagement and education efforts from the past year and to collaborate in co-developing the strategic roadmap for the year ahead.

Promoting Diversity, Equity and Inclusivity in Parkinson's Research and Care

Commitment Range:

There is no minimum or maximum commitment.

Brand Exposure

Consumer Insights

Historically, most PD research has not been fully representative of all people who live with the disease. As a result, scientists have an incomplete picture of who has the disease and how it affects their ability to access care. It is critical to our mission that those participating in and conducting Parkinson's research represent the diversity of the larger Parkinson's community. Our holistic approach includes partnering with a wide range of global stakeholders, including people with PD and their caregivers, specialists and other allied healthcare providers, and researchers and companies developing innovative therapies and solutions for those living with PD. We recognize that a culture of collaboration is critical to removing barriers. MJFF is working to address these gaps by:

- + Connecting diverse communities to educational resources on PD and brain health.
- + Improving access to care by building a clinician and researcher workforce reflective of the diversity of the PD community.
- + Identifying barriers and implementing solutions in research participation of historically underrepresented populations.

As we grow our portfolio of initiatives aimed at engaging underrepresented populations in research and increasing access to care, we want to hear from you on your diversity, equity and inclusivity (DEI) priorities.

Benefits of Support: By partnering with MJFF on meaningful, sustained initiatives that generate lasting change, you can reaffirm your company's commitment to DEI and increase your stakeholders' awareness of your actions — those you are already taking and those you intend to take to ensure DEI in Parkinson's research and care.

Please reach out to researchpartnerships@michaeljfox.org to explore ways to work together.
