

THE EDMOND J. SAFRA FELLOWSHIP IN MOVEMENT DISORDERS—CLASS OF 2029

The Edmond J. Safra Fellowship in Movement Disorders awards funding to academic centers to train a new movement disorder clinician-researcher over a two-year period. Centers worldwide are invited to apply.

Previously awarded centers – except those that received an Edmond J. Safra Fellowship grant in the most recent funding cycle and those with an Edmond J. Safra Fellow currently in training – are eligible to apply.

We encourage applications from centers with a range of experiences and perspectives, especially those in underserved communities that historically have less access to funding and support.

Please review the instructions and requirements below before you log in to the MJFF Grant Portal.

Applications will only be accepted through the Grant Portal.

- Using the narrative template provided, please give a brief overview of your center's training opportunities and illustrate how a fellow can benefit from your program. (Please note the application includes a second template that gathers data on the number of movement disorder clinician-researchers trained, faculty, patients seen per year, etc.) On the "Project Information & Description" tab of your online application, you will be asked to provide information on previous fellows and fellowship faculty. On the Attachments tab, you will be asked to upload your completed narrative template as a pdf as well as your organization's bank letter and W8 or W-9 forms.
- All applications are treated confidentially and will be reviewed by MJFF staff in collaboration with external peer reviewers to determine their fit with the program goals.
